

Project 54 is...

an annual fundraising event of the Wilderness Ministry Institute. The goal is to raise money to outfit indigenous youth workers with the needed gear to share the Gospel with underprivileged youth through outdoor adventure.

Why Wilderness?

Solitude and adventure has a significant place in any student ministry program that desires to see radical transformation. The more we invest in indigenous youth missions around the world, we become more convinced of this: If we are going to bring change to our cities and communities, and ultimately the hearts of hurting young people in our world today, we are going to need to find creative ways to quiet the noise for them so they can hear the Father's voice. Transformation will begin when young people are able to hear the Gospel over the sounds of honking horns, thumping woofers, and angry stressed out parents.

PROJECT FIFTY-FOUR

Summit Day: 8.28.2010

54 Colorado 14,000 ft Peaks
54 Summit Teams

How Does It Work?

Project 54 is made possible by volunteer team leaders who each recruit a team to climb every 14er in the state of Colorado.

On August 28th our 54 team leaders will lead a team to the summit of all 54 fourteen thousand foot peaks in Colorado. Each team leader gathers a team of friends, co-workers, family members, etc. to climb with them. Every person raises pledges on their team's behalf. This year we are asking each team to raise a minimum of $1,000 (for example 10 members could ask 10 donors for $10 each). For friendly competition, all 54 team's donation levels will be tracked on the Project 54 map page so that everyone can know where their team stands.

Mission:

To introduce young people to Jesus Christ and help them grow their faith through guided wilderness adventures

Who Does It Benefit?

Donations from Project 54 provide indigenous youth-workers the gear and training they need to lead life-changing wilderness ministry in their country. The countries and regions that WMI works with include: Central Asia, Indonesia, India, Japan, Malaysia, Nepal, Philippines, Singapore, Sri Lanka, Thailand, Turkey, Australia, New Zealand, Belarus, Czech Republic, Lithuania, Romania, South Africa, Uganda, Greenland and Sweden.

What is Wilderness Ministry Institute?

A group of people committed to initiating and developing Christ-centered, outdoor ministry programs worldwide that are committed to providing highest possible quality outdoor experience for young people at the lowest possible cost.

How Can You Get Involved?

Sponsorship

Each peak will have a corporate sponsor. The Wilderness Ministry Institute represents an international charity, but our partners are local businesses committed to a cause the community cares about.

Become a Corporate Sponsor:

Go to www.project54.org and enter your donation amount. You can also pick the peak you would like your team to be apart of.
